ORDER OF PROCEEDINGS

Academic Procession.

(The congregation is requested to stand as the procession enters the hall)

The Acting Vice-Chancellor, Professor H Corder, will constitute the congregation.

The National Anthem.

The University Dedication will be read by a member of the SRC.

Musical Item.

Welcome by the Master of Ceremonies.

The graduands and diplomates will be presented to the Acting Vice-Chancellor by the Deans of the faculties.

The Acting Vice-Chancellor will congratulate the new graduates and diplomates.

The Master of Ceremonies will make closing announcements and invite the congregation to stand.

The Acting Vice-Chancellor will dissolve the congregation.

The procession, including the new graduates and diplomates, will leave the hall.

NATIONAL ANTHEM

---

Nkosi sikelel' iAfrika
Maluphakanyisw' uphondolwayo,
Yizwa imithandazo yethu,
Nkosi sikelela, thina lusapho lwayo.

Morena boloka etjhaba sa heso,
O fedise dintwa la matshwenyeho,
O se boloke,
O se boloke setjhaba sa heso,
Setjhaba sa South Afrika – South Afrika.

Uit die blou van onse hemel,
Uit die diepte van ons see,
Oor ons ewige gebergtes,
Waar die kranse antwoord gee,

Sounds the call to come together,
And united we shall stand,
Let us live and strive for freedom,
In South Africa our land.

DISTINCTIONS IN THE FACULTY OF HEALTH SCIENCES

Postgraduate diplomas may be awarded with distinction if the candidate has achieved 70% and above for all courses with a weighted average of at least 75%

Honours degrees are awarded by class (first, second class division one, second class division two, or third).

Master's degrees (by coursework and dissertation) may be awarded with distinction for the dissertation, where the mark for the dissertation is at least 75% for the degree, where the weighted average is 75% or better and no component is below 70%

Master's degrees (by dissertation) may be awarded to a candidate who achieves a mark of 75% and above for the dissertation.

DISTINCTIONS IN THE FACULTY OF LAW

---

The Bachelor of Laws may be awarded cum laude where a student has obtained an average of 70% in all law courses; and a mark of at least 75% in at least six full law courses or the equivalent.

The Bachelor of Laws may be awarded magna cum laude where a student has obtained an average of 75% in all law courses; and a mark of at least 75% in at least nine full law courses or the equivalent.

The Postgraduate Diploma in Law may be awarded with distinction where a student has obtained an average mark of at least 75%.

The Master of Laws or the Master of Philosophy by minor dissertation and coursework may be awarded with distinction in the degree where a student has obtained an average mark of at least 75%.

The Master of Laws or the Master of Philosophy by dissertation may be awarded with distinction in the degree for especially meritorious work.

DECLARATION FOR HEALTH SCIENCES GRADUANDS

AT THE TIME OF BEING ADMITTED AS A MEMBER OF THE HEALTH PROFESSION:

I solemnly pledge to serve humanity

My most important considerations will be the health of patients and the health of their communities

I will not permit considerations of age, gender, race, religion, ethnic origin, sexual orientation, disease, disability or any other factor to adversely affect the care I give to patients

I will uphold human rights and civil liberties to advance health, even under threat

I will engage patients and colleagues as partners in healthcare

I will practise my profession with conscience and dignity

I will respect the confidentiality of patients, present or past, living or deceased

I will value research and will be guided in its conduct by the highest ethical standards

I commit myself to lifelong learning

I make these promises solemnly, freely and upon my honour.

NAMES OF GRADUANDS/DIPLOMATES

An asterisk * denotes that the degree or diploma will be awarded in the absence of the candidate.

1. FACULTY OF HEALTH SCIENCES

Dean: Professor B Mayosi

Before presenting the graduands, the Dean will invite all graduating students in the Faculty to stand and to make the Faculty Declaration. All members of the congregation who treat or will be treating patients are invited to join in affirming or re-affirming their commitment to ethical patient care.

DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

In Disability Studies:

Callista Kanganwiro Kahonde

Thesis Title: A grounded theory study of family caregivers' responses to sexuality issues of young adults with intellectual disabilities

Callista Kahonde has a BSc in Physiotherapy from the University of Zimbabwe and an MSc from the University of the Western Cape. Her doctoral research emerged as a result of both her professional experience of working with families with a member with intellectual disabilities, and her family background.

Callista Kahonde's thesis brings about a shift in thinking around sexuality issues of people with intellectual disabilities which to date has been solely dominated by a human rights framework. Her thesis findings are outstanding in identifying the inextricable lifelong relationships between people with intellectual disabilities and their family caregivers, and their sociocultural contexts as pivotal in determining sexual destinies of people with intellectual disabilities. Using a grounded theory methodology, she developed the Theory of Contained Sexualities, which illustrates how family caregivers strive to strike balance, manage their anxiety and shield young adults with intellectual disabilities from the potential risks of their sexual behaviour. Callista Kahonde's thesis proposes and demonstrates the utility of the feminist moral theory of ethics of care in complementing the current human rights framework when addressing sexuality issues of people with intellectual disabilities who live under the care and support of their families.

Nicholas Ekow Thomford

Thesis Title: Pharmacogenomics: Evaluating induction and inhibition profiles of selected herbal medicinal plants of genes coding for drug metabolising enzymes and cell cycle regulation

Nicholas Thomford has a BSc and MPhil from the University of Ghana. His interest in pharmacogenomics led him to undertake this PhD research focusing on how human genetic variation can affect or be affected by herbal medicinal remedies when they are used together with prescribed therapeutic drugs.

Nicholas Thomford's thesis highlights the risks involved in the co-administration of some herbal medicinal remedies when prescribed concurrently with therapeutic drugs, which is becoming a common phenomenon in populations in health transition such as in Sub Saharan Africa. He uses a combination of in vitro methods and prediction algorithms to highlight herb-drug interactions, which is common, although poorly documented in developing countries. The findings of this thesis will assist health practitioners (both herbalist and physicians) educate policy makers on the judicious co-use of herbal and conventional drugs. The ultimate aim is minimisation of adverse drug reactions and reductions in health-care costs. This thesis opens the possibility of an encyclopaedia on drugs and herbal medicines that should or should not be used together, and contributes towards the realisation of precision medication.

Andani Errol Mulelu

Thesis Title: Factors involved in the oligomerisation of the cyanide dihydratase from Bacillus pumilus C1

Andani Mulelu has a BSc, BSc(Med) (Hons) and MSc(Med) from UCT. He began his PhD study in the Structural Biology Research Unit of the Department of Integrative Biomedical Sciences in 2013.

Andani Mulelu determined the structure and biophysical characteristics of the filamentous form of the cyanide dihydratase enzyme from Bacillus pumilus. His work has produced the first visualisation of this important member of class of catalysts that are widely used in the manufacture of medicines and in the bioremediation of toxic waste. As a result of his work it has become immediately obvious how this particular enzyme can be improved to cope with "real-world" conditions. For example, the highly alkaline cyanide waste water destabilises the native enzyme and this can be overcome by relatively simple modification of the enzyme. He used cryo-electron microscopy coupled with mutagenesis studies, to obtain a high resolution structure of enzyme and identify the amino acid residues responsible for the filament formation. These findings will allow for the structural manipulation of the enzyme to produce more stable and effective forms of the cyanide degrading enzyme.

In Medicine:

Gerbrecht Elizabeth Pietersen

Thesis Title: Molecular epidemiology, susceptibility profiles, outcomes and transmission dynamics in patients with extensively drug-resistant tuberculosis (XDR-TB) in two provinces of South Africa

Elize Pietersen has a BSocSc (Nursing), BSocSc Honours (Nursing and Psychology), and MSocSc (Psychiatric Nursing) from the University of the Free State. Prior to commencing her PhD, she worked at the University of the Free State, and the Division of Human Genetics and the Lung Infection and Immunity unit at UCT.

Elize Pietersen's PhD thesis reports on the poor treatment-related outcomes in XDR-TB. Her work suggested that resources spent on expensive drugs used in the XDR-TB regimen could be better used elsewhere. Furthermore, therapeutically destitute community-based drug-resistant TB patients remain a major public health problem. They are a high TB transmission risk given their smear status, longevity, and molecular clustering. Containment strategies such as community stay and palliative care facilities are therefore urgently needed. A further finding was that therapeutically destitute patients have specific psychosocial and economic needs, which should be taken into account when planning intervention and management programmes. Whilst prevention of drug-resistant TB is critical, the widespread roll out of new drugs and rapid diagnostic tests are urgently needed to deal with the current epidemic.

6. FACULTY OF LAW

Dean: Professor P Andrews

DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

In Private Law:

*Catherina Elizabeth Pienaar

Thesis Title: The archaic perceptions of the maxim res ipsa loquitur are incommensurable with the medical clinical process in medical negligence litigation

Catherina Pienaar has a BA (OFS), a BCur in Nursing (Pretoria), an LLB (UNISA) and an LLM (Pretoria). Her doctorate emerged from her professional experience in nursing and legal practice as an attorney specialising in medical negligence.

Catherina Pienaar's thesis argues that the legal doctrine, res ipsa loquitur ('the thing speaks for itself'), is not, and should not be part of South African law that regulates claims for compensation for medical negligence. This doctrine is sometimes thought to assist individuals pursuing claims for compensation by easing the difficulty of proving a medical professional's negligent action and that that negligence caused their loss. Catherina Pienaar argues, however, that the doctrine is harmful to both medical negligence claimants and defendants. Applying the res ipsa loquitur doctrine tends to oversimplify complex medical realities and to increase the risk of courts deciding cases for reasons that are unjustifiable from a medical perspective; to promote erroneous assumptions that bad medical outcomes typically result from medical wrongdoing; and to lead claimants to advance insufficiently-prepared evidence which may then be vulnerable to rebuttal on inadequate grounds. The thesis contrasts South African law against English legal experience and draws on case studies of a variety of medical procedures.

GOWNS

A plain black gown styled after the pattern of the Oxford scholar's gown is worn by diplomats, and Bachelor's, Honours and Master's graduands. Senior doctoral graduands wear a scarlet gown, with facings the colour distinctive of the faculty in which the degree is awarded. PhD graduands wear a scarlet gown without facings.

HOODS

The hood is particular to the qualification and the faculty. Diplomates and Bachelor's graduands wear a black hood lined with white and edged with the colour distinctive of the faculty. Master's graduands wear a black hood lined with the colour distinctive of the faculty and edged with white, except in the case of the hood for the MMed degree, which is edged with red. Senior doctoral graduands wear a hood of the colour distinctive of the faculty and a black velvet bonnet with a cord of the colour distinctive of the faculty in which the degrees is awarded. PhD graduands wear a hood of scarlet lined with black and a black velvet bonnet with a cord of the colour distinctive of the faculty in which the degree is awarded.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

Founded as the South African College (a boys' school that aimed to provide higher education as well) in 1829, the University was established as the University of Cape Town in 1918.

The early history was one of great expectations and hard times and it was not until the early years of the twentieth century that the University was developed into a fully-fledged tertiary institution. A significant and pioneering development in the 19th century was the admission of women as degree students in 1886, many years ahead of most universities in the world.

At the start of the 20th century the University incorporated the Diocesan College, the teacher training classes of the Normal College, the South African College of Music and the Cape Town Schools of Fine Art and Architecture.

The Medical School was established and in the 1920s the University began a partnership with the local health authority (now the Provincial Government's health department) that saw the Medical School move from the Hiddingh Campus and the Green Point Somerset Hospital to Observatory (the rest of UCT's Upper Campus moved from Hiddingh to its present site, on part of Cecil Rhodes' estate, in 1928). This partnership allowed for the construction of the first Groote Schuur Hospital on a University site. The partnership continues to this day and now involves not only Groote Schuur as a teaching hospital but Red Cross Children's Hospital, Valkenberg and a growing number of primary health care sites.

The period between the end of World War II and 1994 was marked by two themes. Firstly, the University recognised that if it was to be fully South African, it would have to move beyond academic non-segregation to be fully inclusive. It would have to face the consequential and increasing clashes with a government determined to legislate for segregation and enforce the doctrine of apartheid. And secondly, the University intended to transform into a leading research institution.

Before World War II, the University was largely a teaching university and its students were mostly undergraduates. The research undertaken was sporadic, though in some cases notable. A research committee was appointed for the first time in 1945. The next 75 years saw a great expansion of research and scholarly work such that the UCT of 2014 has a greater proportion of highly rated researchers and gains significantly more research grants and awards than any other South African University.

The 1980s and 1990s were characterized by the deliberate and planned transformation of the student body. This was aided by the establishment of the Academic Development Programme aimed at helping students from disadvantaged educational and social backgrounds to succeed and the desegregation of student residences. As a result, a student body that was 90% white in 1979, when UCT marked its 150th anniversary, is in 2014 more than 50% black. The total student enrolment of just above 26 000, includes international students drawn from over 100 countries, a significant proportion of which are from SADC states. Particular emphasis is placed on postgraduate studies and more than 20% of these students will be enrolled in master's and doctoral programmes. A growing number of postdoctoral fellows contribute substantially to the research endeavours and reputation of the University (UCT has more than a third of the total number of post docs in South Africa).

UCT continues to work towards its goal to be Africa's leading research university. Its success can be measured by the scope of study it offers and the calibre of its graduates.

MISSION STATEMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CAPE TOWN

UCT aspires to become a premier academic meeting point between South Africa, the rest of Africa and the world. Taking advantage of expanding global networks and our distinct vantage point in Africa, we are committed, through innovative research and scholarship, to grapple with the key issues of our natural and social worlds. We aim to produce graduates whose qualifications are internationally recognised and locally applicable, underpinned by values of engaged citizenship and social justice. UCT will promote diversity and transformation within our institution and beyond, including growing the next generation of academics.

Foundation statement underpinning the mission statement

Our research-led identity is shaped by a commitment to:

- academic freedom as the prerequisite to fostering intellectual debate and free inquiry;
- ensuring that research informs all our activities including teaching, learning and service to the community;
- advancing and disseminating knowledge that addresses the key challenges facing society – South African, continental and global;
- protecting “curiosity driven” research;
- nurturing and valuing creativity in the sciences and arts including the performing and creative arts;
- stimulating international linkages of researchers and research groupings.

We strive to provide a superior quality educational experience for undergraduate and postgraduate students through:

- providing an intellectually and socially stimulating environment;
- inspired and dedicated teaching and learning;
- exposure to the excitement of creating new knowledge;
- stimulating the love of life-long learning;
- the cultivation of competencies for global citizenship;
- supporting programmes that stimulate the social consciousness of students;
- offering access to courses outside the conventional curricula;
- attracting a culturally and internationally diverse community of scholars;
- guaranteeing internationally competitive qualifications;
- offering a rich array of social, cultural, sporting and leadership opportunities;
- providing an enabling physical and operational environment.

In advancing UCT as an Afropolitan university, we will:

- expand our expertise on Africa and offer it to the world;
- extend our networks on the continent, along with our global connections and partnerships;
- promote student and staff exchanges and collaborative research and postgraduate programmes;
- engage critically with Africa’s intellectuals and world views in teaching and research;
- contribute to strengthening higher education on our continent.

We strive to provide an environment for our diverse student and staff community that:

- promotes a more equitable and non-racial society;
- supports redress in regard to past injustices;
- is affirming and inclusive of all staff and students and promotes diversity in demographics, skills and backgrounds;
- offers individual development opportunities to all staff;
- is welcoming as a meeting space for scholars from Africa and around the world.

Welcome, Wamkelekile, Welkom – today is not the end of your relationship with the university but the beginning of a new phase in your continuing relationship with UCT, one that you share with the UCT community of over 100 000 alumni.

Diverse as this community is, the shared experiences of a critical academic ethos and a spectacular campus make for a strong network that has a wide footprint, not only in South Africa, but across the continent and the globe.

We set a great store by our links with our alumni, and indeed the links alumni have with each other. We promise that we will be in touch, and ask you in turn to let us know not only your current contact details but also, from time to time, something of your lives and where you are in your careers.

*Updates can be done on the web – <http://www.uct.ac.za/dad/alumni/update/>
- or by writing to the Alumni Office, UCT, PB X3 Rondebosch 7701 or by contacting us on (27) (21) 650 3746.*

Your alma mater looks forward to welcoming you back, whether to a public lecture, a leadership forum, your class reunion, or just an informal call!
